

Your heart beats for innovation and sustainability? JOIN US NOW!

In Quantron innovation and experience work together every day towards a more sustainable mobility. In our company you will find a flexible working environment with a unique high level of motivation. We have a fast-paced, exciting, and collaborative culture where you will have the possibility to quickly implement your ideas, with a low level of hierarchy and bureaucracy.

Internship / Product Portfolio & Corporate Strategy (m/f/d)

Full-Time

Project Scope:

- Support team members to determine and prioritize QUANTRON business strategies
- Steering the company with recommendations and consultation to enable highest effectiveness and efficiency
- Continuous external building of the QUANTRON assets towards customers and investors
- Global strategic development of FCEV and BEV vehicle and solutions portfolio within corporate and brand targets, incl. infrastructure and digital products
- Corporate analytics and business development support such as future business scenario simulation
- Market Research (primary & secondary) incl. competitor benchmarking and market & competitor investment analytics
- Contact with suppliers/agencies

Key Tasks:

- Development of the team to become OEM and future Platform for 360° BEV and FCEV Sustainable and Zero Emission Solutions
- Interface within the team for the company and Product related & Strategic Projects
- Customer Requirements definition for physical and digital products
- In-house Research and Business Intelligence such as Corporate and Product Benchmarking
- Innovation scouting to ensure technology transfer and integration into projects during the development process.
- Vehicle technical target attribute planning support and customer requirement prioritization focusing on electric range & TCO performance, and sustainability both for internal resources and customer
- Definition and management of product grid, feature list and product attribute leadership strategy incl. lifecycle management of feature/functionality lists
- Product/derivative portfolio and exhibition vehicles planning
- Definition and management of vehicle options programs
- Additional scope of work may be extended where fruitful for projects after alignment with management and product & corporate strategy

Requirements:

- Bachelor studies in engineering or business / electrical engineering / Business IT / Business Administration & Engineering or experience in relevant field. Finalized Bachelor or Master would be a benefit.
- Truck & bus expertise and business track record
- First experience in developing products and solutions in the automotive industry
- Knowledge of vehicle & strategy development
- Understanding of platform and ecosystem development
- Knowledge of zero emission solutions and technologies in the industry
- Experience in creating technology strategies and capability roadmaps
- Proficient skills in English
- Reliable, flexible, and independent way of working
- Excellent teamwork and communication skills
- Open mindset and ability to grow

Why us?

- We work on sustainable mobility
- Combining expertise with passion you can quickly grow with us both in terms of skills and responsibilities
- For us Teamworking comes before hierarchy and approval process
- Flexible working schedule

We consider diversity as a crucial ingredient for our growth. As an equal opportunity employer, we base our talent acquisition decisions on skills and experience. What we value is energy, courage, and reliability. We look forward to receiving your application and learn something more about your story.

Join now the e-revolution in passenger and cargo transportation! 2022 is the year to #GROWWITHUS!

Send us a detailed application including a curriculum vitae and motivation letter to hr@quantron.net.

Want to know more about Quantron? Follow us on social media!

www.quantron.net